IN HONOR OF MRS. MILES

Pleasant Tea Given at the Soldiers' Home.

Pretty Wedding Last Night at Mt. Vernon Place Church-Society Notes and Personals.

Army and Navy folk are leading the gaiety of the early season. Several brilliant military weddings, teas, receptions, and hincheons are set to occur soon, and some have already taken place. Many of the most charming bosts and hostesses are found in this circle, and culture and travel add much to their surroundings, as well as the intelligence of their hospitality.

In compliment to Mrs. Miles, wife of Gen. Miles, U. S. A., a luncheon was given yes-terday by Mrs. Parker, wife of Major Parker, U. S. A., at their attractive quart-ers at the Soldiers' Home. In spite of the inclemency of the weather all the invited guests were present except Mrs. Lamout, who found it impracticable to venture out. The ladiestaking part were Mrs. Miles, Mrs. John Foster, Madame Komero, Miss Waller, Mrs. Wilson, wife of Col. John Wilson, Mrs. Breckinridge, Mrs. Gilmore, Mrs. Alden, Mrs. Sternberg, and Mrs. Moore.

Mrs. Moore.
In the builway of the prettily arranged house a great Japanese vase, filled with mauve, gold and white chrysanthemums, greeted visitors, with orental welcome, as hey arrived from the chilly world outside e cosy drawing room, library and dining on were massed and garlanded with these flowers, the mantels being entirely screened from view. It was a purple luncheon. The dainty table was festooned with violet ribbon, corsage was testooned with violet thoods, corsage bouquets of violets, and red and white roses were set beside each cover, and the lavender tapers in silver candelabra capped with purple shades. Exquisite porcelain and glittering glass and silver added to the dainty effect. Stationed on the stars was the old soldiers' band, which alternated with the old somers than, when afternated was brave marches and sentimental, but always military ballads, during the afternoon. It was an altogether delightful affair, and characteristic of the eleverness of army hospitality throughout.

Miss Etta Kelton leaves tonight for Florida with Mrs. Rumbough for Fort Barraneas.

A pretty inncheon was given Tuesday by Mrs. Matthews, wife of Dr. Matthews, U. S. A., at her home, on New Hampshire description of Miss Wetherell. Among those present were Mrs. Wainwright, sister of Mrs. Matthews, Miss Wainwright, Misses Etta and Adelaide Kelton, and Miss Margery Knott.

During the seating of the sudlence Miss Florence Ball, organist of the church, played selections from "Bohemian Girl," changing the strains to the march from "Lohengrin," as the wedding party entered.

The bride wore a gown of cream corded silk, and her talle veil was held with a built wreath of orange blossoms. She carried bride roses, tied with satin bows.

The maid of honor was gowned in white organdie with collarette and sash of white satin, and her flowers were pink chrysan-The ceremony was followed by a short reception in the parlor of the church, after which a supper was given to the bridal party and relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Murray left on the 10:43

train for Atlanta and other points of interest in the South. Among the guests included in the chrysan-commin-decked pews, were the friends of the groom from the Agricultural Depart-ent, Mrs. M. B. Latimer, aunt of the bride; Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Latimer, Mrs. M. B, Latimer, Miss Mabel Latimer, Mr. Clar-ence Latimer, and Mrs. C. G. Sloam, cousin of the bride.

On Thanksgiving night, the members of Virginia Memorial Chapter, of St. Mary's Guild, will give a young folks' fancy dress ball at Linthicum Hall, for the benefit of the Children's Hospital. A very pretty wedding took place last evening at the parsonage of Trinity Epis-copal Church, in which the contracting parties were Miss M. Emma Cooksey of Atlanta, Ga., and Mr. Gilbert N. Edson of New York

New York.

Rev. Dr. Addison performed the ceremony. The bride was becomingly attired in a brown cloth traveling suit, with trimmings to match, and carried a bosquet of La France roses. The maid of bonor, Miss Rodie S. Cooksey, of Washington, wore a green novelty cloth, with trimmings to match, and carried Marchai Niel roses.

Mr. William G. Rawles, son of Maj. Rawles, officiated as best man. After the ceremony the bridal party drove immediately to the depot, where amidst a shower of rice and best wishes of relatives and friends, Mr. and Mrs. Edson started on a Northern tour, after which they will make their home in New York.

The wedding was a brilliant social event, the church being filled with friends of the two families some time before the hour appointed for the cremony. Many others who could not be admitted Many others who could not be admitted within the church stood without to catch a glimpse of the bride and groom as they passed from the church door to the carriage.

The church decorations were simple but elegant, consisting of paims and white chrystuthenums. The bridal party entered the church to the wedding march from "Lohengrin." The ushers were Messrs. J. Randolph Anderson and Treholm Hopkins, and Messrs. W. De Bruyn Kopps and W. S. Chisholm. The bridesmaids were Miss Blount, of Macon, daughter of ex-Congressman Blount, and Miss Comer, daughter of President Comer, of the C. R. daughter of President Comer, of the C. R. R., of Georgia. The groomsmen were Messrs Garrison Morfit, of Paltimore, and Gardner Booth, of Alexandria, Va. The name of honor was Mass Batown. The groom's best man was his brother, Mr Hollins Randolph.

The wedding costumes were simple and handsome. The bride wore heavy white satin and carried a large bouquet of lilies of the valley. The maid of honor wore white brocade and tulle. The bridesmaids were attired in green broade and tulle and carried bouquets of white roses tied with white ribbons.

MISS NETHERSOLE AS JULIET.

Pleasing Creation Applauded by a Fashionable Audience. Miss Olga Nethersole presented "Romeo and Juhet" at the National Theater last night to a house that was crowded to the doors in spite of the stormy weather.

Miss Nethersole gives an interpretation of Stakespeare's most lovable character that is far better than Washington has seen in come lines. Six makes a verst charming Juhet.

time. She makes a prest charming Jutime. She makes a post charming Juliet, depicting the sweet girlish innocence of the Capulet maiden with rare grace, and rising to the impassioned lines with great spirit. Miss Nethersole's version of the play differs slightly from those we have been accustomed to see, in that it has more action and less dialogue. The poisoning scene in the fourth act was particularly effective, there being a half dozen curtain calls, and Miss Nethersole descryes great praise for the evident thought and study she has given the part.

Mr. Earnest Leicester made a handrome and acceptable Romeo, his elecution being particularly good, and Mr. Lablacte as Mercutio added to the reputation be has Capt. Sherwood Here. Capt. Henry Sherwood, the former city postmaster, is in Washington. He has minounced bilimedr as a candidate for the postmistership of the House of Representatives in the coming Congress. He was twice elected by acciamation to that posi-tion, first in the Forty-third and again in the Forty-seventh Congress, and the postal service of that body was improved to a high degree under bim. He was afterward appointed assistant postmaster of this city by Postmaster Conger, and was retained in that position by the next Democratic Post-master, Hon. John W. Ross, because of his thorough knowledge of the cetails of the postal service.

Housewife Goes to Market. Next Sunday is going to be a red letter day in our family, because the dinner question is already solved. I always make out my list ahead of time, and had just made one of startling proportions when I noticed an article in Wednesday's Times convey-ing the information that "Johnstons," the Seventh street grocers, are going to give a large, plump, dressed chicken to every purchaser of one dollar's worth or every purchaser of one dollar's worth or over on Saturday. My list amounts to just a little over $1, and with the wisdom of Alexander, I intend to make my purchases at Johnstons Saturday and receive my fowl for Sunday free. I never heard of such an offer before, and don't expect to hear it again. I am almost afraid that I will not be able to get in the store. HOUSEWIFE.
